Dr. Nancy J. McGinley
Superintendent of Schools

Superintendent Dr. Nancy J. McGinley has been named the Local Government Official of the Year by the South Carolina Recreation & Parks Association (SCRPA). The award was announced at SCRPA's annual conference in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Kevin Walsh, Executive Director of the St. Andrew's Parish Parks and Playground Commission—the local agency that nominated Superintendent McGinley—wrote in his announcement letter, "Your leadership in mandating that all CCSD teachers complete the Darkness 2 Light training, the Superintendent's Cup Challenge Tennis Tournament, and the Learn to Swim Initiative made you an outstanding candidate to receive this award."

Any individual serving in a local, municipal or county government capacity is eligible for the award. Individuals are nominated based on contributions to the parks and recreation field on a community, state, or national level. Nominations must document in detail the contributions that nominees have made to their program, and the lasting effect of these efforts on their community, state, or nation.
