CHARLESTON— On Tuesday, October 13, 2009, the West Ashley High School National Honor Society hosted kindergarten students from Ashley River Creative Arts Elementary and Drayton Hall Elementary schools to participate in a literacy event entitled “Bouncing for Books.”

Approximately 200 kindergartners came to WAHS to participate in a series of events including jump castles, relay races, story time, arts, crafts, and dancing. Each student left with the book Llama Llama Red Pajama and a bookmark that reminds parents of the importance of reading in the home.

For more information regarding this event, please contact Bridget Lee 573-1201.
