

New Generation of Learners: Simmons-Pinckney Middle – Our Framework for Success

At Simmons-Pinckney Middle we welcome and embrace the uniqueness of our scholars. We believe all scholars can achieve at high levels when high expectations are placed upon them, resources are used effectively, and opportunities are provided to them. Our scholars will leave Simmons-Pinckney Middle confident, independent learners. They will have the 21st Century skills necessary to be competitive, contributing citizens of the future.

1 First: we need high standards, rigorous curriculum and powerful instruction for all scholars regardless of their neighborhood, diverse learning needs or level of proficiency. We must go beyond the basics to ensure that scholars become critical thinkers, effective communicators and responsible global citizens. The definition of core instruction must be expanded to include the arts, health, physical education and extracurricular activities. (STEAM)

2 Second: we need robust systems of supports that meet all of our scholars' needs because every scholar is unique. High expectations for all scholars must be coupled with a holistic approach that supports the individual needs of each. We must also remove barriers to learning with practices that promote scholar's health and safety, social and emotional development, school attendance and college and career preparation.

3 Third: for scholars to achieve at the highest level, the school needs engaged and empowered families and communities. Parents must be empowered as leaders who can advocate for their children and for all the community's children. Meanwhile, school and district leaders must be resourceful in identifying community partners who can support children's growth and learning.

4 The fourth pillar is to ensure committed and effective teachers, leaders and staff. Our teachers, principals and administrators will be valued and developed, will hold themselves accountable and will be rewarded for success. We must ensure we are the place where the best talent comes to work.

5 And the fifth and final pillar is that we need sound fiscal, operational and accountability systems. Priorities that lead to scholar success must drive planning, spending and accountability at the school level. Every employee needs to be held accountable for student outcomes and also provided with useful data and guidance in working toward those goals.
