Marvin Taylor to Serve as Interim Principal of Edmund A. Burns Elementary

Charleston, SC — Charleston County School District (CCSD) is proud to announce and welcome Marvin Taylor as interim Principal of Edmund A. Burns Elementary. Taylor has served as Assistant Principal at the school since 2014.

Taylor is a native of Charleston and a graduate of the elite Call ME Mister program. In 2009, he received his Bachelor of Science degree from South Carolina State University with an emphasis in Elementary Education. Upon graduating, he began his career teaching fourth grade at North Charleston Elementary School. Taylor received his master's degree in Administration from Capella University in 2012.

During his career, Taylor has received several accolades including the Innovation Zone Closing the Achievement Gap Award, and was named the North Charleston Elementary School Teacher of the Year. He serves as a youth mentor and counselor in his local community and is passionate about service and uplifting those around him.

Taylor will transition to his new role in July 2018.

About the Charleston County School District

Charleston County School District (CCSD) is the second largest school system in South Carolina representing a unique blend of urban, suburban, and rural schools that span 1,000 square miles along the coast. CCSD serves more than 50,000 students in 86 schools and specialized programs. With approximately 6,100 employees district-wide, CCSD is the fourth largest employer in the region.

CCSD offers a diverse, expanding portfolio of options and specialized programs, delivered through neighborhood, charter, magnet, IB (international baccalaureate), and Montessori schools, and is divided into three Learning Communities. Options include specialized programs in science, engineering and mathematics; liberal arts; music and other creative and performing arts; career and technical preparation programs; and military and other public service enterprises.
